They are, to put it simply, one of country music's great sagas. Cowboy Crush has built, one soul-stirring, tail-shaking show at a time, a unique niche and a devoted following across the U.S. and in half a dozen countries. Theirs is music to start a heart pumping, a life-affirming, fist-in-the-air celebration that can flow seamlessly into songs bringing heartfelt affirmation to the single mom, the soldier's family--anyone facing the struggles that go with real life.

Cowboy Crush is a unique and synergistic combination of skills. Trenna is the world-class singer, that rare combination of power and subtlety, high energy and pure emotion. Debbie provides both a gorgeous vocal complement and solid underpinnings on the bass. Renae' is the talented multi-instrumentalist known primarily for fiddle work that alternately complements and soars. All three bring an eye-catching mix of high energy, jaw-dropping talent and irrepressible femininity that captivates audiences everywhere.

The music, which they select with the taste of connoisseurs and the intuition of fans, has given real substance to their high-energy approach. They have worked with some of Nashville's finest in the studio--Hall of Fame songwriter Bob DiPiero, Doug Johnson (Hank Williams Jr./John Michael Montgomery), Mark Bright (Rascal Flatts/Carrie Underwood), and Alan Brewer.

So, experience the exhilaration and freedom of the open range, ride the surge and swell of a Pacific roller, and feel the crush --Cowboy Crush. If you take the wild abandon, freedom and exhilaration of the cowboy lifestyle, and combine that with the surging power of a giant Pacific wave - what some surfers fondly call "the Crush"- you get Nashville's most unique band ever: Cowboy Crush. Throw into the mix beautiful and exceptionally talented women, and the result is an experience like you've never heard.
